

Backstop Attends and Sponsors the NACUBO Endowment Management Forum

On Friday, January 27th through the 29th Backstop representatives will be attending the NACUBO, “Endowment Management Forum: Lessons from the Past, Focusing Forward.” The forum is being held at the Sheraton New York Hotel and Towers and is a gathering of experts who will cover investment management issues and trends affecting higher education endowment management. To learn more about the forum visit the NACUBO website.

Backstop representatives will be available for private meetings or short discussions covering a wide range of topics regarding Backstop’s technology. To schedule a sit down or a meet and greet with a Backstop representative contact Deborah Hill at (312) 277-1162 or email dhill@backstopsolutions.com.

Backstop’s award-winning software is the best suite of tools available for institutions looking to manage and track relationships, monitor research and investment activity, and communicate with constituents more effectively.

What's more, it helps you to stay on top of it all with robust reporting. It is the ideal solution for institutions who have grown frustrated with storing information in multiple applications and spreadsheets, who have been disappointed with other research management and portfolio accounting systems that fall short on features, reliability, and service.
